It is an almost hopeless task to combat the queer misrepresentations of Chinese matters which obtain in western journals, but it is noteworthy that they extend not merely to political matters but to social and personal characteristics. The Americans are great sinners in this respect, though we scarcely dare assert that British journalists are a whit better. In San Francisco, for instance, the city which produces the Overland Monthly, with its well-written articles upon Chinese customs, their guilds, etc., etc., we should scarcely expect to find a leading journal falling into the most preposterous blunders. Yet the Alta California, to hand by the last Pacific Mail steamer furnish us with most amusing exemplifications of how to pack the greatest amount of blundering on such matters into the fewest possible lines. Take for instance the following:

Prince Kung has been heard from. The Prince is a gentleman who has only recently been introduced to the world by the aid of the telegraph. He is the Prime Minister of the great Empire of China. History will speak of him by and by as the contemporary of Seward, Gladstone, Rouher, Bismarck, Von Bismarck, and other great statesmen. The Prince, according to the London Times, says he is all right; that he has not rejected the American Treaty, and that he is only waiting till all the treaties are concluded to take final action. If the fact that he was appointed to the position of Prime Minister of the other side of the world and had an opportunity to respond in the brief space of a few weeks does not convert that old gentleman to the cause of progress we shall be inclined to consider his case entirely hopeless.

To which the only reply possible is: That he has not only recently been introduced to the world, having been treated with during the war and ever since the opening of Peking. He is not Prime Minister of China, but Prince Regent. The Prince has not said anything as yet about the treaties being "all right." He has not "responded" to anything in the brief space of a few weeks; and he is not an "old gentleman" but a young man of about 35 or 36 years of age. Try again, Alta!

We are requested to state that the Special Session of the Council will be postponed till Thursday, the 14th inst.

We learn that the U. S. steam gun-boat Undulla was held to-day for the sum of $19,500, the purchaser being Mr. John Jack. Her armament and stores were not included.

It is worthy of remark that the Brit. ship Shun Lee, commanded by Capt. Milbank, made a very successful run from Shanghai to this port in 4 days 18 hours, including some considerable stoppages: the Labour-downs (French mail steamer) was 3 days 8 hours on the passage down, without stoppages, being only a difference of 34 hours. This fact, together with the Shun Lee's run from London to Shanghai, which is stated at 101 days, speaks well for the sailing qualities of the ship and the seamanship of her captain.

The following is the Account, duly certified of the Average Amount of Bank Notes in Circulation and Specie in Reserve in Hongkong, during the month ending 30th August, 1899:

We find the following paragraph in the money article of a London paper of Aug. 10: It will probably possess interest for some persons in these parts: "The advice from Peru, brought the annexed decree from Lima respecting the appropriation of the revenue derived from Guano. The agents, Messrs Thomson, T. Bouar, and Co., caused a copy to be posted without delay at the Stock Exchange."

It is decreed that for the present, and so long as no contrary resolution be come to, the exportation of guano from the deposits of the Island of Chincha, of Bay of Independence, and the Island of Macabí, shall be destined exclusively for the markets of England and the United States in the proportion necessary to provide, with the proceeds thereof, for the service of the debt contracted by Peru in the said countries."

Both Magistrates were on the Bench this morning, and some thirty minor cases of the usual Monday description were disposed of.

A Chinese carpenter was fined 10 (or 7 days) for having unlawfully possession of one of the oar-leaders from the boat belonging to the military at present at Stanley. Defendant was caught by a private of the 75th Regiment coming out of the boat-house at Stanley having the stolen property in his hand.

A fine of $5 (or 14 days' hard labor) was imposed by Mr. Russell on a Chinese-cook in Dr. Adams' employ, inasmuch as he had been guilty of a nuisance committed in the Street early in the morning.

One of those rascally hawkers who swarm round the Docks at Kowloon was charged by Sergeant Gowan with the same offence as before, viz., unlawful possession of little pieces of old iron—an offence which only seems to be on the increase at Kowloon, but appears to be breaking out afresh at the Docks at Aberdeen. Amongst a quantity of old bones in a basket, the lot of old scraps, bolts and washers were found by the Sergeant, and the defence raised for this theft of 40-cents' worth of property was, that he had bought the rubbish from a shop, the bill for which he produced. This bill, unfortunately for the defendant, was a bill for another sale of nails effected some ten days before; doubtless another lot of stolen property. Defendant made a bungling explanation of this anomaly; and as it was clear that he was a "bad egg," Mr. Russell imposed a fine of 20, or 14 days' hard labor.

J. Donelan, private of the 75th Regiment, was drunk yesterday, and in his cups he was violent beyond the usual measure of drunken subjects. It appears that he took a peckish from a poor hawker of small wares, and refused to pay for the same, when he was given into custody. Inspector Kirby said that the soldier was not so very drunk, when he refused to pay the hawker in the Charge-Room, to be beaten very violently when he told that he would be looked up. He kicked, struggled and bit the finger of the constable who held him. They had to handcuff him and put him in a cell, and there the infuriated red-coat smashed the head of the constable with the iron bars; the tub in the cell was also smashed to pieces, and damage generally amounted to about $5. Defendant admitted that he was in liquor, but insisted that he had not been very much in him: he was set upon, he said, by seven or eight men in the Charge-Room, and for this usage he himself ought to have been compensated. Mr. May told the defendant in the sum of $2, and ordered that, in the event of his not paying this and an additional amount (for damage) of $4, he should go to prison for 21 days.

The case against the four seamen from the Peruvian and one "bum-bustman," of suspicion of having stolen a coil of rope valued at $65 or $75, was resumed to-day, but remanded until to-morrow. Captain Thompson gave his evidence to the effect that, on the 1st of October, Inspector Daly came on board asking whether any rope had been missed after which it was found that a coil of 34 inch Manila rope had been stolen. The Captain, about a month since, lost a gold watch and chain worth nearly $600, but he had no suspicion against any one. He knew, however, that the prisoners had a hand in the rope robbery; and he got a remand accordingly.

Yip Apo, a gardener, for having stolen some wood from the scaffolding of a house or bungalow of Messrs Jardine, Matheson & Co., was sent to hard labor for three weeks. The defendant was charged by an Indian witness, who rather astonished the prisoner, who had supposed that the "black devil" was not a policeman, and there was to fear.

Antonio Santana, who was charged with the robbery of $136 from his master, Mr. Argus Sinclair, chief engineer of the P. & O. steamer Ganges, now in dock at Aberdeen, was convicted and sentenced on Saturday afternoon. The facts are as follows, as stated by Mr. Sinclair. Defendant is the Chief Engineer's servant, and has been in a similar situation for four years to Mr. Sinclair's knowledge. Mr. S. was wont to keep his money in a cash-box, which was again locked up in a drawer, of which defendant kept the key. Mr. S. keeping the key of the cash-box itself. In the drawer there was a sum of $36, and in the cash-box there was a note for $100; and for a few minutes, on the 6th, the complainant left his cabin and left the cash-box key on the top of the drawers. Next day, the steamer went to Aberdeen; and on Thursday, defendant disappeared, and his absence on Friday attracted attention, so that the robbery of the $136 was found out. On referring to a note-book wherein he had kept a memo. of the No. of the note missing, Mr. S. found that that portion of the page had been torn off. The Serang was sent after the defendant, and brought him back; he admitted the theft, brought back and offered the complainant $30, saying that, if he would not punish him, he would get other $106 from a friend. He threatened that he had lost the money at a gambling-house in London's Lane. Mr. S., however, would not agree to this compromise of the matter, and the defendant was therefore charged. Defendant stated that he went with the Serang to gamble with $17, and stole the whole of it; he then came on board, stole his master's money and again went to London's Lane, where he lost the lump sum, this latter juvenile fortune being "dropped" in about a quarter of an hour. The Serang said he had pointed out the gambling-house to the Police. Mr. May said that defendant ought to be sent to the Supreme Court, where a heavier punishment could be given than he could impose. Defendant had been a very great fool to go to a gambling-house at all, where he was certain to lose his money, and he had been a very bad man in stealing his master's money in order to lose it, in the same way. As the complainant's vessel was leaving shortly, he would deal summarily with the case. Santana was then sentenced to six months' hard labor.

CORRESPONDENCE.

OUR READS.

To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL." Sir,—For many weeks past I have noticed large heaps of road metal accumulating under the hammers of our omnibuses at "Cayes" on the Cause Road, which point to extensive repairs in our roads. Allow me to express a hope that when executed, they will be done on a system which will lead to better results than our last efforts at road-making seem to have done. Since the late heavy rains nothing could be more lamentable, I may say, disastrous, than the state of the public roads. From Pokfulam to East Point you find but one story. The road is nothing but a hard mass of sharp-pointed stones, insufficiently bound together, and easily resolving itself into loose pieces of sharp-cornered granite. Every now and then you even come upon a slab of sheet rock, sticking up several inches—while the whole surface is corrugated with water-courses more or less deep. No doubt a radical remedy for this state of things has been prepared—but as that will not be as well to give some present relief by setting gangs of prisoners to work to pick up some of the biggest of the loose stones—I am, &c.,

A Southern editor, evidently hen-pecked, says, that "if in our school-days the 'rule of three' is proverbially trying, how much harder, in after life, do we feel the rule of one!"

A good old Quaker lady, after listening to the extravagant yarn of a shopkeeper as being her patience would allow, said to him, "Friend, what a pity it is to be, when it seems so necessary to thy happiness!"

NORTH.

By the Labour-downs we are in receipt of Shanghai papers to the 6th inst., and make the following extracts therefrom:—

(N. O. Herald.)

We mentioned in our last issue, that no telegram had for some time come to us via Kiangtse. As was anticipated, would prove the case, we now learn that they have been delayed by damage to the line. An inundation has swept away the telegraph posts between Kiangtse and Lake Baikal, and rendered the roads impassable. But communication has been re-established by means of boats, and the Nanking has brought down a telegram of the 7th September, in seventeen days from Kiangtse.

A change has taken place in the Tao-tai-ship of Shanghai. We mentioned some time ago that the acting official was to be replaced by a Magistrate, also named Tu, from Nanking. The latter has arrived and has taken over the reins of office. We hear he was exceedingly popular at Nanking, and that a popular demonstration took place at his departure.

We hear that Ting Futai is expected to visit Shanghai, in a few days. One of his motives is supposed to be, to further the project we mentioned some weeks ago, of sending a number of Chinese students to the West. But there are various other rumours afloat, and nothing very definite seems to be known of his intentions.

A Hankow correspondent writes: There is nothing to be done at the present season. Locomotion is impossible except in boats, business is at a stand still, because all the towing paths are deep under water, and no goods can be carried into the interior; tea season is practically over, and the merchants are grumbling sadly at the small quantity settled here and at the prospect of an utterly dead and dull winter in consequence of the poverty of the natives whose third crop is hopelessly lost. Even the sportsmen are to be pitied, for the birds have driven the snipe into inaccessible regions, and quail alone go to fill the bag. I don't know how the pheasant season promises, but a large party is going up to-morrow in boats to King-ho, whither the Leven is bound for her quarterly military practice. The Leven will tow the house boats, and the Jacks will have a fine time of it, sky-larking over the country as beaters. Up to the present they have led a hard life, unable to go on shore and without even the secondary excitement of seeing anything going on in the settlement, always excepting the rise of the water, the crashing of walls, and the quaking of verandahs.

Another correspondent says:—The abolition of desolation still exists at this cheerful port. The flood decreased about four inches last week, but is now again rising, and the level is only about a foot and a half below the highest point. The weather is becoming too cold for canoes, setting apart the fact that we hate the very sight of them, and one's outdoor recreation is limited to a constitutional "up and down the verandah." We are looking forward to the prospect of skating about the streets in the winter. Croquet sets and moving machines are not in great demand.

A Chinkiang correspondent writes:—I see you advocate the idea of a railway from Chinkiang to Chingkiang-pu, but I fear you will have hard work to make the idea take root, much less blossom and bear fruit. The Chinkiang folks are too few and feeble; the Chinese are too timid; and the officials at Shanghai, the Galloos, are for none of them. If there were a Consul at Chinkiang, the thing might be done, but as it is, I see little hope or chance of it.

A Kiangling correspondent writes:—Water keeps much about

The scope of this work includes detailed descriptions of important STRAITS AND MOUNTAINS, notes on the CHINESE and general TOPOGRAPHY, FAUNA, FLORA, GEOLOGY and METEOROLOGY of each Port, its neighbourhood, with HISTORICAL NOTICES and minute details respecting the rise and progress and social characteristics of the several foreign settlements. To these particulars are added summaries and statistics of the TRADE of each open Port, compiled from the most recent official returns, accompanied by descriptive details of the varied character of the goods which foreign commerce is divided into; together with statements respecting COINAGE, CURRENCY, and EXCHANGES, LINES OF STEAM COMMUNICATION, DELIVERIES, and RATES of PASSAGE MONEY.
